

Illustration

Art Foundation Specialist Pathway

Art Foundation alumni who specialised in Illustration

"Taking this course — visual communication — which is really wide, will give me the opportunity to be able to work in lots of different domains. I hope I'm going to do lots of different things and work for lots of different people."

Julie Dekimpe from Switzerland, progressed to study Visual Communication at Leeds Arts University

"Kings definitely helped me build a varied portfolio, it even had architecture in it. I'm studying illustration but I think that kind of helped the course leaders — when they were interviewing me — to see a wide range of skills"

Hazal Özkeleş from Turkey, progressed to study Illustration at Leeds Arts University.

Minjin Cho from China, progressed to study Illustration at London College of Communication (UAL)

Namen Basil from Colombia, progressed to study Illustration and Visual Communication at the University of Westminster

Pak Fai Chui from Hong Kong, progressed to study Illustration at University of Leeds

Illustration involves transforming words and concepts to pictures, and is a specialism that can be applied to both traditional and digital media — from printed publications such as children's books or magazines, to gaming and other online platforms.